9. The correspondence between the content of the course and the expectations of the academic community, professional associations and representative employers in the field:

Cultural and public diplomacy have been probably the most effective international resources in the service of global peace and promoting mutual cooperation between states. Recently, non-state actors, private institutions and NGOs have contributed to the ever growing role of cultural diplomacy in the world, so that, potentially, any public institution should be interested about and able to manage the more and more diverse aspects and strategies in the field.
