

PERSONAL INFORMATION

Martin Brusis

 Babeş-Bolyai University, Faculty of European Studies, Strada Em. de Martonne nr. 1, Cluj-Napoca, RO- 400090

 brusis@daad.ro

 www.mbrusis.eu

POSITION

October 2016 – present
Associate Professor, Babeş-Bolyai University, Faculty of European Studies

WORK EXPERIENCE

- July 2013 – present Principal Investigator, Graduate School for East and Southeast European Studies, University of Munich
- 2010-2015 Managing Director of the project network “Institutions and Institutional Change in Postsocialism”, Munich University
- 2009-2010 Visiting Professor of Comparative Government, University of Heidelberg
- 1995-2009 Project director at the Center for Applied Policy Research, Munich University
- 1999-2001 Research fellow at Humboldt University Berlin and London School of Economics
- 1992-1994 Researcher at the Institute of East European Studies, Free University of Berlin

EDUCATION AND TRAINING

- 1992-1995 Ph.D. in Sociology, Free University of Berlin
- 1988-1991 Diploma in Political Science, Free University of Berlin
Studies in Political Science, Slavonic Languages, Sociology and Law, Universities of Berlin and Marburg

PERSONAL SKILLS

Mother tongue German

Other language(s)

	UNDERSTANDING		SPEAKING		WRITING
	Listening	Reading	Spoken interaction	Spoken production
English	C1	C1	C1	C1	C1
Russian	B2	B2	B2	B1	B1
Croatian/Serbian	B1	B1	B1	A2	A2
Hungarian	B2	B2	B2	B1	B1
French	A1	A1	A1	A1	A1

Communication skills

Regular media interviews and commentaries, numerous public lectures
Post-graduate, graduate and undergraduate courses at the universities of Heidelberg, Munich and Almaty, 1996-2014

Organisational / managerial skills

Longstanding NGO and research project management experience

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Selected Publications

- (Ed.) Politics and Legitimacy in Postsoviet Eurasia (Co-editors: J. Ahrens, M. Schulze Wessel) Palgrave Macmillan, London 2015.
- Democracies Adrift. How the European Crises Affect East-Central Europe, Problems of Post-Communism 63 5 2016.
- Paths and Constraints of Subnational Government Mobilization in East-Central Europe. Regional and Federal Studies 24 3 2014, 301-319.
- Party Strategies and Administrative-Territorial Reforms in Poland. West European Politics 36 2 2013, 405-425.
- Staat und Wirtschaftsakteure in postsowjetischen elektoralen Autokratien. PVS-Sonderheft 47 „Autokratien im Vergleich“ 2013, 298-323.
- The Quality of Democracy and Market Economy in Southeast Europe. Südosteuropa 57 2/3 2009 146-167.
- Reformfähigkeit messen? Konzeptionelle Überlegungen zu einem Reformfähigkeitsindex für OECD-Staaten. Politische Vierteljahresschrift 49 1 2008, 92-113.
- European Union Incentives and Regional Interest Representation in Central and East European Countries. Acta Politica 45 1/2 2010, 70-89.
- Evidence of convergence? The Western Balkan Countries in Democracy and Governance Assessments. Southeast European and Black Sea Studies 8 4 2008, 379-397.
- The Instrumental Use of EU Conditionality: Regionalization in the Czech Republic and Slovakia. East European Politics and Societies 19 2 2005, 291-316.
- Europeanization, Party Government or Legacies ? Explaining Executive Governance in Bulgaria, the Czech Republic and Hungary. Comparative European Politics 4 2 2004, 163-184.
- L'échelon régional en Europe centrale et orientale: Institutions, compétences et ressources. Revue d'Études Comparatives Est-Ouest 34 2 2004, 145-171.
- The European Union and Interethnic Power-sharing Arrangements in Accession Countries. Journal of Ethnopolitics and Minority Issues in Europe 1 2003, 1-20 (Among the five most-cited articles of JEMIE, 2000-2015).
- Between EU Requirements, National Traditions and Competitive Politics: Re-creating Regions in the Accession Countries of Central and Eastern Europe. Governance. An International Journal of Policy, Administration and Institutions 15 4 2002, 531-559.
- Executive Configuration and Fiscal Performance in Post-Communist Central and Eastern Europe. Journal of European Public Policy 8 6 2001, 888-910 (co-author: V. Dimitrov).