The Academic Network on Inclusiveness, Multilingualism and Excellence (Anime) presents 'Europe in time of crises: from integration to inclusion'.

→ An Erasmus+ Blended Intensive Programme : including a virtual component and a physical mobility activity

This innovative programme includes both an online component and five days physical activities. It's the first Erasmus+ Blended Intensive Programme of Anime. It is coordinated and hosted by the University of Strasbourg in collaboration with three sending Partner-Universities: Babes-Bolyai University (Romania), Palacky Olomouc University (Czech Republic) and Sofia University 'St. Kliment Ohridski' (Bulgaria).

→ A programme for students and staff

This innovative programme will gather students and staff from four different countries and universities (Bulgaria, Czech Republic, France, Romania).

Participants will explore European construction through a unique intergenerational and intercultural perspective. Looking back on previous crises and reflecting upon the possible consequences of today's situation in Ukraine, participants will question whether these challenging times might in fact be opportunities to strengthen Europe. Anime focus on inclusion issues will add a special dimension to these discussions: does European integration mean European inclusion?

→ The added-value of this programme

During this programme, you will:

- ◆ Learn about European construction as well as inclusion issues;
- ◆ Visit emblematic European institutions and meet their representatives;
- ◆ Participate in the ANIME summer event, which will gather officials from 12 universities worldwide;
- ◆ Share a unique experience, meet new friends and build new relationships;
- ◆ Earn additional credentials or receive a certificate.

Anime: a network cooperation

The Academic Network on Inclusiveness, multilingualism and Excellence (Anime) was launched on 5 and 6 November 2020 during the official launch meeting led by the Vice-President Europe and International Relations of the University of Strasbourg, Professor Irini Tsamadou-Jacoberger.

Formalised within the IDEX programme ('Excellence initiatives')

«Internationalisation of the institution. From bilateral cooperation to network cooperation», the network is oriented towards higher education institutions in Central and Eastern Europe, the Middle East, Africa and Latin America.

Anime is intended to be a collective springboard for moving forward together in terms of reflection and experimentation: educational innovation, projects of excellence, exchanges of good practice, based on common values. Three working groups have individually focused on notions of inclusive excellence, multilingualism and interdisciplinarity. In June 2022, a major on-site event in Strasbourg will give concrete expression to these initial exchanges.

→ The objectives of Anime

- ♦ To encourage the joint organisation of activities aimed at all the university's publics (teachers, administrative staff, students);
- ♦ To develop joint approaches to calls for projects from international programmes;
- ♦ To encourage mobility for the entire University of Strasbourg community within the networks that have been set up, as well as incoming mobility for its partners (concept of an exchange platform).

→ Anime partners: from Latin America to the Middle East

Anime currently includes 12 partner universities (including the University of Strasbourg) multidisciplinary institutions with a strong internationalisation strategy, attentive to the concepts of multilingualism, cultural diversity, inclusive excellence and also very open to the French language and culture. These partners are located in Latin America, Africa, Central and Eastern Europe and the Middle East.
